

Roommate Agreement

Welcome to independence! You have arrived in the real world; no one will wake you for that 8:00a.m. class, wash your clothes, or ask you if your homework is done. Now is the time to meet your new roommate(s) and make your own rules!

Living with someone you do not know will present a challenge. Accept the challenge and work with your roommate(s) to create an environment conducive to study, relaxation, privacy, sleep, friendship, and FUN!

The limitation of space alone requires consideration by each party. Communication is the key and a little consideration goes a long way.
